WEEKLY NEWS LETTER YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION OF WARREN MINING DISTRICT

A. B. Richardson, who is working in New Mexico on the war work fund for the Y. M. C. A., has been laid up with a severe cold in Santa Fe, N. M. A letter was received from him under date of October 31st, in which he says he is improving. Richardson will be away from Bisbee for possibly another month, as he has a large territory to cover.

Horner and Harsch, of the Federal labor investigating committee, were shown about the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday. They were fairly impressed with the place and left a welcome behind for any time they may want to come back.

A class in college algebra is offered by Mr. Schumann. The particulars are to be learned from Secretary Donaldson.

Thomas Meehan has left this city for Douglas, where he is having a fine time, according to a letter received.

Hallowe'en, at the Y. M. C. A. was observed in grand style Tuesday night, October 30th. The building was packed from top to bottom, and every one seemed to have a good time. There were many stunts arranged for the occasion. The Chamber of Horrors in the locker room was horrible enough for the most daring. The western holdup, the cannibals and Lola, the disappearing wonder, were entirely satisfactory to all who paid them a visit. The crowd was so large it was difficult for everyone to see everything. Four fortune tellers from the

Y. W. C. A. were kept busy the larger part of the evening. The witch who held forth in the lobby, and big chief Geronimo attracted much attention as well as the many others who were costumed for the occasion. The dancing stunt known as the "Slide for Life" was one of the attractive stunts of the evening. The one great attraction of the evening was the cabaret held in the gym. The main floor and gallery were packed even to the limit of the standing room. The cabaret was engineered by Mr. H. A. Rancourt. Those taking part were Tom Evans, Mr. White, Mr. Carnes, G. E. Kellogg, L. L. LeBuyer, D. A. Parrish, Miss Quinn, Mr. Hill and H. A. Rancourt. During the cabaret, fruit punch and wafers were served by young ladies from the Y. W. C. A. Immediately following the cabaret occurred the tableau of the Trio, Liberty, a soldier and an Industrial Worker, which made a striking picture. As the final event of the evening, Mr. Snyder, principal of the High school, told a most interesting and weird ghost story that was most fitting for the occasion.

The "gym" classes are growing more popular each day. The past week has shown a marked increase in attendance in the men's classes. You men who work indoors and have dabby muscles are missing an opportunity to keep yourself fit. The cost is small, 3 cents per day. You cannot afford to let your physical machine run down, or even run at half its efficiency. Take exercise in the Y. M. C. A. gym, and keep in condition.

The usual song service will be held in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. building Sunday, November 4, at 4:30 p. m. On that occasion we shall be favored with an address by Mr. W. H. Morrison, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Miami. The address will be given at 5 p. m. At 5:30, Dr. Harold S. Brewster will hold his popular Fellowship Bible class in the lounge room of the building. Refreshments will be served to those who attend the Bible class. All men of the Warren district are cordially invited to be present for both meetings.

At the present time, arrangements are being made to conduct the campaign for the $35,000,000 Y. M. C. A. war fund that is to occur November 11 to 13. The boys of the country will be asked to raise $1,000,000 of this out of their own earnings. The boys of Bisbee will want to do their part, which is estimated at $4.00. The boys' committee to manage the campaign has already been selected, and arrangements are being made to promote the campaign among the boys. More detailed announcements will be made later.

C. F. Philbrook gave his second lecture on "American Government" last Monday evening under trying circumstances. He had to share a room with the food conservation meeting. But the outcome was beneficial to both. Several people who had intended to hear one only, remained for both. The lectures, besides being very accurate, are enjoyable. An appreciation of the subject and thorough mastery of style lend a peculiar charm to these talks.

We learn from an authoritative source that Y. M. C. A. war secretaries are badly needed. Men of an earnest and proved Christian character, who are willing to undergo considerable sacrifices, are urged to consider this possibility. Business or technical skill, some experience in similar work, ability to work with, rather than over, men and unquestionable patriotism are required. Men of draft age are accepted only when clearly exempt for some reason, or when in the third draft. In this way, every "Y" man represents a unit which could not otherwise so directly take part in the war. No one can be excused from military duty. Suitable men are urged to apply.

Mr. Whitwell is planning to use the new Bulopticon machine extensively in his geology class. Geology is subject which would pay every miner in the district to take part in.

The Kaiser was present in the basement of the "Y" on Hallowe'en.

Choosing as the subject of his talk Sunday afternoon, "Life in an Austrian Prison Camp," Mr. Donaldson drew a vivid picture of a Y. M. C. A. secretary's work in relieving the almost hopeless condition of the Russian, Serbian and Italian prisoners in Austria.

In the beginning he had to contend with the lack of co-operation, if not the actual enmity of the Austrian officers who had charge of the various camps; but it was not long before those same men acknowledged that American diplomacy had succeeded where brutality had failed, in establishing schools among the prisoners taught by the educated from among their own numbers, in persuading them to grow garden stuff inside the enclosure, in interesting them in holding theatricals and in doing many other things to make them contented.

There was a scarcity of food in Austria, but as the prisoners were permitted to have parcels sent them from home, the Italians and Russians were the recipients of frequent packages of bread, rice and so forth. The Serbians received very little food from home, and that was usually moldy black bread, or even more moldy cheese. Their relatives in Serbia wrote that there was plenty to eat there, but the government would not allow them to send it out of the country.

At Christmas the Association men received a large shipment of candy, and they divided it among the three thousand men in the prison hospital, each man receiving six sticks. Prisoners who tried to escape were hunted down with hounds and punished by being confined to the guardhouse.

At the Serbian camp there were a hundred women who wore the uniform of the Serbian army. Through the efforts of the Association these were sent back to their homes.

At the close of Mr. Donaldson's talk coffee and doughnuts were served and the guests questioned Mr. Donaldson about various conditions in Europe. It was an opportunity not often enjoyed to question one who has seen both sides of the world warfare.

Monday afternoon an enthusiastic class of women from the Twentieth Century club met to learn the art of millinery under the instruction of Mrs. Wilson. This was the usual Friday afternoon class, which was adjourned on account of the circus. The group met again Friday afternoon and in the evening the regular night class met as usual.

Monday evening commenced the Hallowe'en festivities which lasted all week. Miss Myrtle Roper and Miss Dorothy Sutton gave a party to their girl friends. Thirty-six guests were entertained by their hospitality.

The basket ball team had a practice game Monday night.

Tuesday evening, of course, everyone was at the "Y" having a good time. Many of the Y. W. C. A. girls went in costume.

Miss McCurdy entertained a group of Lowell club girls with an interesting party Wednesday. There were games and the usual funny Hallowe'en stunts.

During the past week a conference, composed of delegates from California, Nevada and Arizona met at Los Angeles to determine ways and means of raising the Pacific Field's share of the $4,000,000 which the government has requested the Association to contribute toward the care and comfort of the American army. In Kansas and in other places where there are large cantonments, excellent work has been done in establishing "hostess houses" where the soldiers may meet their wives, sisters, sweethearts and friends. Later, Miss Charlotte Davis, field secretary, will visit the Bisbee Y. W. C. A. to assist with valuable suggestions regarding the work of raising our quota of the money.

A number of High school girls met at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon and organized a club, which they voted to call the Girls' High School league. The following officers were elected: Margaret Jeffry, president; Ruth Patton, vice president; Mary Salmon, secretary; treasurer, Orline Landrum. After the business meeting the girls played games and otherwise enjoyed themselves. The league voted to meet twice a month at the Y. W. C. A.

The home nursing class, conducted by Mrs. Jason, is to hold its first meeting Wednesday evening. Students of the course who pass the required examinations at the end of their work with Mrs. Jason, will be awarded a certificate from the National Red Cross. They will work at the Copper Queen hospital.

WATER HEATING BY GAS

The process of heating water for domestic purposes has been revolutionized in the past few years through the introduction and perfection of gas fired water heaters, until today it is no longer a problem to secure an abundance of hot water quickly and economically, in any dwelling, large or small.

Today, in the countless thousands of homes where gas fired water heaters are installed, an abundance of hot water is available for any purpose. By some types of heaters the water is heated instantly at the turn of a faucet, by others, within a few minutes after lighting the heaters, and all without labor, inconvenience or discomfort, and at a reasonable cost for gas.

PASCHALL WRITES OF CONDITIONS ON FARMS IN COCHISE

County Agricultural Agent Tells Interesting Facts Relative to the Possibilities in This Region of Arizona.

A. L. Paschall, county agricultural agent, with headquarters in Wilcox, is one of the most optimistic men in Cochise county regarding its agricultural possibilities. He realizes, however, the handicaps and the trials which must be encountered in making a farm pay. The following letter from him illuminates many features of the situation as it affects present farmers and those who intend to take up that class of work.

It follows:
"As compared with the older agricultural regions, farming in this county is relatively new and much of it is still in the pioneer stage. As is true in all homesteading regions, the farmers usually have but small capital on which to start and progress is slow, even though there be good natural advantages and good local markets. Many failures are usually encountered which discourage some. These failures are usually the result of lack of training and foresight—studying conditions, locating in the proper places, etc., are important considerations for success in new localities. Also, it is not always the man who has the most capital to spend who makes the best success; it is more often the other way. The man with capital is not acquainted with local conditions and goes ahead with some plan which cannot bring success. The man with small means necessarily must go slow, and he learns conditions as he goes. Enough has been found out, however, about farming in the agricultural localities, by the successes and failures, to guide all who will seek the information. When capital and foresight are combined with energy, practice and good business methods, there we find success; and even when capital is lacking and we find the other principles we will after a while find success, and with success of course will come the capital."

"There are farmers in the county who are making good, are making good labor incomes; there are others who are not, and sometimes these two classes are near neighbors, under the same conditions—and without a starting or capital difference. There are some excellent people who have settled in regions where success is very hard to attain and even impossible. In some cases, with their very limited means. These settlements are, of course, not permanent, for with failures there will be removals. Much of such conditions are due to some unscrupulous locators who enticed the people to such regions and secured large locating fees. It is very good that this kind of locators have disappeared.

"This county is producing less than one-fourth of the food and feedstuffs consumed within the county. There are excellent local markets, but these must be studied by the producers and through organization and co-operation by the producers and consumers, these markets can be supplied, which would be of great benefit to all. The saving in transportation space and prices will result and the resources of the county will be better developed and utilized. The consumers will also secure cheaper, fresher and better products. The bringing about of such better conditions is of direct concern to the producers of mineral products as well as to the producers of agricultural products. Where there is cheaper and better food there will be found better and more contented workers. As the cost of necessities becomes higher there must be a corresponding increase in wages."

"The Federal food administration has done a great deal of excellent work since its creation, only a short time ago, in reducing the difference between what the producers get and the consumers pay. This, however, has been with the main commodities which are handled in large amounts. There is still much to be done with local products. For example: The farmers in the valley, 20 to 25 miles from Bisbee, have been and are receiving 2 to 4 cents per pound for sweet potatoes, delivered to the retailers. These same potatoes are sold for 5 to 6 cents per pound. There are no transportation charges for the retailer and only one middleman—the retailer. There is a direct difference of at least 100 per cent between what the producers get and the consumers pay. For these potatoes are soon sold and there is but little waste and loss of weight. This is not very encouraging to the producers and not encouraging to the consumers to use home-grown products which the food administration is advising us to do, and which all common reasoning dictates that we do. The farmers can make a fair profit on potatoes at 3 to 4 cents per pound, but with another cent per pound more they would have that much more to spend in further clearing land and otherwise developing their farms so as to produce more food products. The consumers could also secure the potatoes for 2 cents per pound less and there would still be a good margin of profit for the retailers. This state of affairs as now exists cannot be blamed upon the retailers entirely, nor the producers or consumers altogether. The condition can be remedied through the combined efforts of all and it is certainly the patriotic duty of each one to assist. To bring about the needed improvement there must be organization and understanding among the farmers—to know what is wanted, to produce these wants in the best and most economical way, to put them up in the proper way for selling and to combine to sell these in the best and most economical way to supply the markets constantly as near as possible and with the products as the markets require them. The consumers can also very much lessen the cost by not being so exacting, by paying cash and by taking their groceries home with them, thus reducing the cost of delivering."

"I most heartily agree with you that a public market is very much needed and believe that the people should immediately take steps to bring this about. With this assured the farmers would then have a better basis for effective organization for co-operatively supplying the people through the public market."

"Yours very truly,
"A. L. PASCHALL,
"County Agricultural Agent."

(By Review Leased Wire.)
EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 2.—Octavio Paz, former personal representative of Emiliano Zapata, arrived here today from San Antonio. He is being closely watched by government officers, although he said tonight he was here only on private business. He predicted that the Carranza government would last but a short time because of internal dissensions and that Zapata would unite all of the revolutionary forces in the north and south soon. He denied he had any connection with the new reactionary movement led by Felix Diaz.

The war is costing the belligerent nations of the world at the rate of $150,000,000 a day—$5,500,000 an hour—and the United States is paying at least one-quarter of this sum.
